Support students who are transforming the world

Rhyse Maryniuk works in mechatronics, studying the intersection between mechanical and electrical engineering. A Masters student in the University of Waterloo's Faculty of Engineering, he's currently helping design a three-wheeled electric vehicle that may transform automotive research. But without the support he received through scholarships, he may not be where he is today.

"I started my university career with no scholarships and at that time I had to work about 20 to 30 hours a week," the University of Manitoba graduate says. "That cut away from my study time. I still did well, but as soon as I started receiving scholarships it allowed me to take fewer hours at my part-time job, which gave me more time to work on my extracurriculars and academics, which improved my grades... It was sort of a feedback loop."

This design will allow vehicle researchers to have "a great deal of control and precision" with testing and research, and will also offer a more affordable option compared to standard testing options.

Mr. Maryniuk's thesis involves the design, development, fabrication and testing of a three-wheeled electric vehicle.

While obtaining his BSc. in Engineering at the U of M, Mr. Maryniuk was a four-time recipient of the Marguerite and John Burelle Memorial Aboriginal Scholarship.

CREATE A LEGACY THROUGH A SCHOLARSHIP

John with his mother Marguerite.

John Burelle committed his life to improving opportunities for Indigenous students. Thanks to a Scholarship Fund established through a gift in his Will, this legacy of support will continue forever.

Friends and family remember Mr. Burelle's dry, wry, slightly satirical humour. They remember his shiny, red Jeep and his German Shepherd dog named Neechi. They remember his attention to detail, and his love for the finer things in life. But most of all they remember his support for Indigenous students.

After completing his post-secondary schooling, Mr. Burelle worked in the education system – as a teacher at the university and college levels, as well as in research, education policy, and program and curriculum development – always with a focus on Indigenous students.

Following Mr. Burelle's passing in 2004, an estate gift created a Scholarship Fund supporting Indigenous students at the University of Manitoba, where Burelle completed both his Bachelor and Master of Education degrees, and worked from 1981 to 1994.

Thanking thoughtful donors

"There is nothing random about your acts of kindness, thank you for all you have done and still do. Your gift is a blessing to me thank you for giving me the opportunity to be thankful."

"Your kindness and generosity is very much appreciated from the bottom of my heart. This financial help will go a long way in eliminating some financial stress from my life."

"I will never be able to expree in words how thankful I am. You have no idea how much you have helped me. For once I can finally spend a weekend with my son and I don't have to work as much."

FRIENDS OF OUR HISTORY

The Winnipeg Foundation is a legacy of dreams. For decades, generous people made the gifts that generate today's grants. They willingly gave to create a better future for people they would never know. We pay tribute to these past generations by supporting students who study the history of Winnipeg, Manitoba and Canada.

A Memorial Scholarship is a fitting way to remember a loved one and to ensure their legacy will change lives forever.

Scholarships and bursaries reward hard work, recognize need, and facilitate dreams. They are vital to supporting the success of young students.

When you establish a scholarship or bursary, you define the award criteria according to values and priorities set by you or your loved ones. The Foundation can connect you with schools and educational programs in our community, advise you of existing awards, and identify where funding is needed.

We handle administration of the award, including liaising with schools, ensuring students are selected according to your criteria, and arranging payment.

We can help you with fund wording for the obituary, provided customized gift forms for a service, and create an online page where people can give to the fund through our website. We'll notify you of all gifts received, thank each donor individually, and provide a tax receipt for each gift.

JACK JOHNSON

Jack lived in, loved and served the City of Winnipeg. In his career with the Winnipeg Police Department, Jack continued to learn and develop, never standing still with the knowledge he had.

Football was one of Jack's other loves. His dream to begin a Scholarship Fund was a perfect fit that combined football and education. The Jack Johnson Memorial Football Scholarship Fund recognizes an individual's self-development, sportsmanship and leadership qualities.

Jack's legacy will make a difference in lives of students for years to come.

MARGIE KVERN

Margie teemed with love and compassion for all who knew her. An embodiment of dedication through service, she wanted to be a meaningful contributor to the communities she loved and to inspire others to join her in making a difference.

As a lasting tribute, the Margie Kvern Memorial Fund has been established to honour Margie's passion for music and community, and her resilient faith. As these interests allowed her to live with such strength, poise and grace through her diagnosis, this fund may include a scholarship award, and/or support for the purchase of music equipment and/or the music ministry community of a church.

COLE HAMBLIN

As a defenceman, Cole played with St. Adolphe, Spokane Chiefs and Regina Pats in the WHL. He also spent time with the Selkirk Steelers, Winnipeg Blues, Portage Terriers and Virden Oil Capitals in the Manitoba Junior Hockey League.

Cole was recruited to play for Guelph University in Ontario, where he wanted to study business. He lost a short battle with a rare cancer in November 2014.

The Cole Hamblin Memorial Fund supports a player with the Eastman Minor Hockey Association who demonstrates sportsmanship, leadership, respect and enthusiasm both on and off the ice.
