Thank you for attending a "Will Week – Estate Planning for Your Future" event. This presentation will provide an opportunity to inform and educate you as a member of the public concerning important issues involving wills and estates generally. The lawyers who are presenting are volunteers and represent a broad spectrum of lawyers and firms who practice in these areas.

The presentation is for informational purposes only. The lawyer will not be able to provide you with specific advice with respect to your estate plan, your will or any case in which you may be involved now or in the future. The presentation is not subject to solicitor-client confidentiality. As a result, the lawyer presenting or any lawyer in their firm is able to act on behalf of a client involved in a case in which you also may be involved.

If you require specific advice with respect to your situation, it is recommended that you retain a lawyer and seek advice from them.
